

STREAMS

Valuable for our community and future

Stream Asset Inventory Project Open House

Please join us to learn more about the condition of streams in Douglas County and what you can do to protect and improve them.

Thursday December 13, 2007
4:30 – 6:30 PM

Douglas County Environmental Services Office
3015 Menke Circle

(1 block north and 1 block west of 93rd and Maple Street)

Topics:

- Stream Assets - Existing Conditions
- Steps Douglas County is taking to protect and improve streams
- How you can help protect our streams for future generations
- How land use can impact streams

Format:

- Poster displays
- Staff will be available to answer questions
- Comments and suggestions will be taken

Background:

The stream Asset Inventory project is the first phase of Douglas County's commitment to protecting and enhancing our streams. This phase involves review of existing data, evaluation of stream condition, and recommendations for future studies, evaluations and policy changes. This is the initial opportunity for public education and input.

For more information contact Kent Holm; (402) 444-3959, kholm@co.douglas.ne.us

Or Project Manager Emily Holtzclaw; (402) 341-0851, emily.holtzclaw@ch2m.com